MAKE TWO ARRESTS

At Newington for Kennebunkport Robbery.

Officers West and Philbrick today placed Charles H. Smith and William Reed, who they caught near the Dover Point bridge after a chase in an automobile. The men were held in connection with the robbery of the residence of Mrs. Austin Allen at Kennebunkport in which a lot of old coin was taken including several 3-cent pieces. Early this morning they called at the store of Samuel Muddock & Son on Hanover street and offered the money in payment of something to eat. The police got a description of the men and ran them down. Smith had a big revolver and both denied knowing anything of the robbery. Later Fred A. Tarbox of the Tarbox Detective Agency of Biddeford came here and after seeing Smith and Reed decided to take them back to Biddeford. The police believe they were using fictitious names and the detectives will be unable to hold them in connection with the robbery.

RESIGNS FROM COMMITTEE

Representative Anderson Bitterly Assails Democratic Legislative Methods and Styles Them a Farce and a Fraud

Washington, Sept. 11.—As the climax of the vigorous republican condemnation of democratic legislative methods which has marked the currency debate, Representative Stanley Anderson of Minnesota, on the floor of the house late today resigned as a member of the powerful ways and means committee. In a speech bitterly assailing legislation through caucus action, and partisan consideration of the Underwood tariff bill and the Glass currency bill in committee, Representative Anderson declared that the system of legislation established made his efforts on the committee a farce and a fraud. Throughout the day the republican had criticised the means employed by the democrats in framing the currency bill, denouncing the secret sessions of the banking and currency majority, and the secret sessions of the caucus which endorsed the bill. This evening Representative Anderson secured the floor and sent his resignation to the clerk's desk to be read. The house listened in silence, and when the clerk concluded, Mr. Anderson in a lengthy speech explained his reasons for resigning.

Stripped of Prerogatives

"I am induced to resign my membership on the committee on ways and means he said, because the rules of this house and the system of legislation have stripped me of my prerogatives."

IDENTIFIES MURDER VICTIM

Casper Janin Recognized Dis-membered Body by Birth-mark on Back.

New York, Sept. 11.—The woman who was murdered ten days ago and whose body was cut up and thrown into the Hudson river, was identified this afternoon as Mrs. Casper Janin, of this city. Although the head, arms, and legs are missing, the body was identified by a mark on the back. The woman's husband made the identification and told the police she had disappeared from home on August 14. The identification was made at the morgue in Hoboken.

Casper Janin, the husband, told the Hoboken police that he and his wife lived at Barcelona, Spain, up to about three years ago, when the woman left him and came to this country. Janin said that he followed her soon after and found her living at a house on West 104th street, New York.

Janin was positive that the marks on the back of the body which he said were birthmarks, offered an unmistakable means of identification. Mrs. Janin's mother, he said, had similar marks on her back, and the same mark appeared on the shoulder of their child who is 6 years old.

The police sent out to find the man whose name Janin gave them as the proprietor of the house on West 104th street.

NEW YORK WANTS IT.

Work on Cruiser Washington Should Be Done Here.

On the 11, S. S. Washington, recently sent from the Portsmouth navy yard to New York to replace the Hancock there is work to be done, amounting to $27,000 which the new York yard is fighting hard to get. The work belongs to the home yard and should be done here. It is said that the vessel is coming back for the same, but that is only talk. We should have part of it and the matter should be taken up with the department before it is too late. Portsmouth yard will need this work during the winter and need it badly.

VERY MUCH ALIVE.

Veteran Firemen Going to Amesbury—Want the Hatchet Buried.

The Franklin Pierce Veteran Firemen's Association are getting in trim once more for the coming handball playoff to be held at the Amesbury fair. The plan is to send not less than fifty strong armed men with the Eureka to the fair grounds, where the Pierce men have always been lucky to capture a prize. By the men who handle the olive branch among the veterans and the active department it has been suggested that the regular department bury the hatchet and send 25 or 30 good men with the veterans to go on the brakes and help win a prize. Such a spirit would eliminate all feeling that has come to the surface since the two parties were held on September 4.

Thaw Makes Two Trips About the Town--Investigation of Deportation from Canada Planned by Thaw's Lawyers

Colebrook, N. H., Sept. 11.—Twenty-five Canadians, several of them opponents of William Travers Jerome after his arrest in Coalbrook, Que., last week on a charge of gambling, and others from Sherbrooke, where Harry K. Thaw received such an ovation in court, have followed the fugitive across the border into New Hampshire and revived with their coming the intense partisan feeling so evident while Thaw was in the Dominion. Jerome denounced one of them in public today.

Their presence in Colebrook evidenced what was otherwise a typical Thaw day for those who have been following the erratic course of Stanford White's slayer since his escape from Mattewan on Sunday morning, Aug. 17. There was no court proceedings, Thaw's arraignment being put off by mutual consent until 10 o'clock tomorrow morning; and Thaw's lawyers, apparently thinking him safer in the custody of the sheriff than at large, abandoned their attempt to release him on a writ of habeas corpus.

Autos Stand in Street.

Groups of Canadians stood about the hotel corridors and on the street corners throughout the day and closely followed Thaw on the two trips he made from his room.

The first of these was to the barber shop; the second to the office of his counsel, Thomas Johnson. Two automobiles, engines running, stood at the

DOCUMENTS FOR RACE SIGNED

Lipton Says American Cup Conditions Are Satisfactory.

Ryde, Isle of Wight, Sept. 11.—The signed conditions for the America cup races next year were received by Sir Thomas Lipton on board his yacht Erin today. Speaking at a large dinner aboard the yacht Buchanan tonight he announced this fact to the guests, who included the competitors and committeemen of the International amateur races.

Sir Thomas said that it took nearly seven months to arrange the contest, and he more than once feared that it would fall through.

"While I was always personally willing to race under any conditions with a 20 or 25 footer," he continued, "I had to be careful not to agree to terms that would impose any disadvantages on future challengers or boats from this side of the water. Several times I was advised to withdraw my challenge, but I stuck to it and now the signed conditions are in my pocket."

"I am glad that I did," I am perfectly satisfied with them. It is true that they do not compel the Americans to meet me with a boat of the same size as the Shamrock, but I was always convinced that this would be done."

He found assurance of this in the announcement that Cornelius Vanderbilt, J. P. Morgan and Frederick G. Houston formed the syndicate to build the defender.

"Three better representatives of good, clean sport cannot be found in the world," he said. "They are giving themselves a pretty tall order, but it doesn't scare me."

Sir Thomas expressed the belief that Nicholson who is building the Shamrock IV, was the best designer in the world, and that Burton who will command the challenger, knew how to steer to victory.

Nicholson was getting on well with the Shamrock, he said, and although it would be the first boat built in Great Britain under American rules, whereas the Americans had done building for 10 years, it would be more to hold its own, he felt confident.

Both the challenger and the defender under the conditions signed, said Sir Thomas will be better types of useful yachts than the friends that one was formerly compelled to read across the Atlantic, and I fear any without hesitation that I have a better chance of winning the cup than ever I had before.

In conclusion he commended the sportsmanship of Americans and his treatment at their hands.

Commander Mansfield S. Cummings, Portsmouth, spoke for France and W. of the Royal Navy presided. Comte de Hale Thompson commended the Chicago yacht club for the United States.

ONLY ONE CONQUEROR.

English Sparrow Has Done What English Army Failed to.

The conquest of America was too big a job for the English army and the English navy, but the English sparrow has done it in a different way.

He wears no flashy red coat, and when he goes forth to war the heat of summer is conspicuous by its absence, yet it was only a very short time after he landed on our shores that he had us in the words of the day, tied to a post.

And it never cost him a cent. He made us pay all the expenses of the war and then "beat us to it." That is the height of military strategy, something that neither Hannibal nor Napoleon achieved except in much lesser degree.

Each year we pay an enormous tribute to the English sparrow, more, probably, than was ever paid to a conquered nation before in the history of the world.

The English sparrow doesn't even pretend to be in favor of universal peace. If he ever heard of "The Hague"

Philadelphia, Sept. 12.—There is a new fish in the school of human pickerels. He's Gilbert E. Tomlinson, a young Philadelphian. He won his spurs—or would it be proper to say his scales? When he debauched the great old Goodwin for the 880 yard

A. W. T., championship swim at Travers Island, New York. It proved Goodwin's Waterloo for it was the first time the speedy New York Athletic Club swimmer had been defeated at one of his own pool distances. Goodwin has held medals for being the fastest man in the country from a quarter of a mile up, Tomlinson who is only a boy, did the half mile in 12 minutes 49 and 8-5 seconds, but did not equal Goodwin's standing record for the distance of 12 minutes and 42 seconds.

Trifling, he felt it made no difference with him. His work in war, he is always on the job, and he has nothing to substitute. Lippincott's.

HEADS CUT OFF
BY AEROPLANE

Barchenhausen, Prussia, Sept. 11.—Four persons were killed and several others badly injured here today by a military aeroplane. The machine was being used in connection with the maneuvers of the 10th Imperial Army Corps, and had just left the ground when the pilot lost control and the aeroplane plunged into a crowd of spectators.

The biplane was piloted by Lieut. Hans Schneider and carried Lieut. Von Teubner as an observer. As the machine ascended a gust of wind depressed the wings, and it swung quarter way around and cut through a crowd that had gathered to watch the flight.

The propellers of the aeroplane decapitated a gentleman, a woman, a civilian and a child and terribly mangled their bodies. Two other persons were badly injured and believed to be dying. The aviators were unhurt.

WOULD SETTLE IRISH QUESTION BY CONSENT

London, Sept. 11.—Earl Lorcana, for six years Lord Chancellor under the Liberal Government, in a long letter to appeals to both great parties in the state for a conference with a view to the settlement of the Irish question by consent, on the ground that the present home rule bill cannot provide a permanent solution.

FEAR CANADIANS PLAN
KIDNAPPING OF THAW

each in front of the office all the time. Thaw was within. This no alarmed the police chief that he and his men completely surrounded Thaw when he was brought down and escorted him to the hotel.

Mr. Jerome spoke with a smile tonight of the camp followers from across the border, but added that he had heard apparently authentic reports that some of the more emotional of the Thaw sympathizers from Canada had spoken seriously of liberating him. Jerome's denunciation of the partisan from Coalbrook occurred in the Montreal House where Thaw is housed. The man, a partisan who interested himself in working on evidence against Jerome on the gambling charge of which he was accused, asked to be introduced to him. Jerome looked him over coldly, then spoke acerbically, bitterly, of his experience in Coalbrook, naming the man as a ringleader. There was a moment of strained silence, then Jerome turned his back.

Thaw's progress down Main street to his lawyer's office this afternoon drew the entire village and environs to the scene. Every available vehicle in town was pressed into service; sidewalks along the way were black with heads. Thaw, head erect and smiling, walked beside him Sheriff Drew.

Arraignment Today.

Unless more delay intervenes, Thaw will be brought before Justice Carr in the morning on the complaint that he is wanted in New York for conspiracy. Counsel for New York will ask that he be remanded until a requisition was sent can be presented to the police, and that he be removed to the county jail at Lancaster. Then will begin the real fight against extradition. In preparation for this Thaw has retained still another lawyer. He is N. E. Martin, ex-mayor of Concord, a leader in the state democracy and a close associate of Gov. Parker. He arrived in Coalbrook today.

Atty.-Gen. Taffie was still here tonight. He refused to discuss reports that the Governor would refuse to honor any requisition papers signed by Martin when as acting Governor of New York.

"My whole time," said the attorney general, "has been devoted to assisting in the preparation of jury cases in the superior court, and the proceeding in relation to Mr. Thaw have not begun until some request from the Governor commands my service."

Thaw Held in Hotel.

Thaw had not been in jail since he was arrested in New Hampshire. Sheriff Drew keeping him in a locked room of the hotel. He excitedly demanded the extra guards near midnight when he was told that Jerome and Kennedy had arrived in Coalbrook by special train from Manchester, Vt.

Two armed deputies dazed in ruckling chairs just outside the room, the door was left ajar and a light was kept burning in the hall all night. Thaw was fearful of what he called strong arm work. After his experience at Coalbrook yesterday nothing would surprise him. Jerome's presence filled him with terror. The unwelcome taste of liberty yesterday with its incident of bullets and responsibility left him trusting entirely to counsel and making few suggestions.

SEEK INVESTIGATION.

Montreal, Sept. 11. Action will be taken before the court of appeal on Monday morning by Thaw's Montreal lawyers who declared today that they would insist on finding out why he was rafforded out of the country in defiance of the orders of the highest court in the province of Quebec.

Not only are Thaw's five Canadian counsel unanimous in their decision to fight the case, but Thaw's aged mother, who is still in Montreal, has given her assistance that the power of the Thaw family will be behind the lawyers in the fight.

The petition on the strength of which Thaw was to have appeared in the court of appeal next Monday was taken out in the name of H. K. Thaw, and the family has as much interest as it ever had in fighting out the issue.

This is the way one of Thaw's lawyers explained the situation this morning. Backing up this statement, Mrs. Thaw herself has expressed herself as "shocked beyond measure" at the way in which her son was deported from Canada yesterday.

"If Harry had lost his case before the courts in Canada, we might have accepted the verdict," Mrs. Thaw declared to a friend today. "But to have the poor boy stolen away without giving the courts a chance to decide his case is something that we did not expect in Canada."

That the Thaw family has not deserted their Canadian lawyers is borne out by the fact that not only is Mrs. Thaw staying at the Hotel-Carlton in this city, but with her are J. C. Thaw, Harry's brother, and Mr. and Mrs. Carnegie. They explained today that while it was possible they might leave Montreal tonight, they would probably remain here indefinitely.

J. N. Greenfield, K. C., the senior counsel for Thaw in Montreal, left Montreal suddenly today without saying where he was going. Before leaving, however, he declared:

"Thaw has been kidnapped, but he and the automobile in which he was taken the name of Canadian Justice has been dragged in the mud."

EXTRADITION PAPERS.

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 11.—Atty.-Gen. Carmody was advised today by Dist. Atty. Conner of Dutchess county that papers calling for the extradition of Harry K. Thaw from Coalbrook, N. H., will reach Albany tomorrow morning for the signature of acting Gov. Glynn. Deputy Attorney-General Franklin Kennedy, who is at Coalbrook with Special Deputy William Travers Jerome looking after the state's interests, telephoned to Mr. Carmody today to hurry the extradition papers to Coalbrook.

SAGE AND SULPHUR
DARKENS GRAY HAIR

Brush This Through Faded, Lifeless Locks and they Become Dark, Glossy, Youthful

Hair that loses its color and lustre or when it fades, turns gray, dull and lifeless, is caused by a lack of sulphur in the hair. Our grandmother made up a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur to keep her locks dark and beautiful, and thousands of women and men who value their even color, that beautiful dark shade of hair which is so attractive, use only this old time receipt.

Nowadays we get this famous mixture by asking at any drug store for a 50 cent bottle of Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy, which darkens the hair so naturally, evenly, that nobody can possibly tell it has been applied. Besides it takes off dandruff, stops scalp itching and falling hair. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears, but what delights the ladies with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur is that besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also brings back the gloss and lustre and gives it an appearance of abundance.

COAL BACK IN THE SKY.

It is Visible Only Because it Contains Nothing That is Visible.

Immediately below the lower stars of the group which forms the Southern Cross there is a black patch in the sky, dark, such-shaped and mysterious. Scientifically accurate astronomers explain that it is not a patch, but rather something which becomes visible by reason of the anomaly that it contains nothing that is visible.

The lay mind, preferring bald reality to abstract truth, is somewhat startled to learn that an object is seen because there is nothing in it to see, but no one can dispute the fact. The coal sack is visible because it contains nothing that is visible. In other words, it is a vast void in the stellar system in which there is not even a flicker of luminosity. It is typically and absolutely the quintessence of blackness.

Because it is so and in contradiction of all preconceived notions the human eye can see it without the aid of a telescope or other instrument.

Between the stars of the Milky Way there are many little holes in the stellar system—little by comparison, that is to say—but one must have telescopes and patience to find them. One need only cross the line to the southern hemisphere and locate the Southern Cross in order to see the coal sack—Popular Mechanics.

RESOURCEFUL ROBIN

On the lawn was the little son of a local painter, whose father was at work painting the house. He had a blowgun and some slugs. Also there was within range a mother robin, and some young birds were in a nest above. The mother robin was tugging a worm out of the earth. The boy, saying "Watch me kill the bird," aimed his blowgun and blow. The slug struck the mother bird—and she dropped dead in her tracks. Consternation! Arrived at the father bird with much pitiful fluttering and manifest anguish. Small boy slapped. Transportation made to feed the young family in the nest by human aid. Next the father bird.

In the course of a half-hour or so back came the father robin, bringing with him a lady robin whom he has obviously captured in haste. The new mother went instantly to work pulling worms out of the ground and feeding them to the fledglings in the nest. The lady went hurriedly into the house, took her pen in hand and wrote to her lover. The purport of her message was, "I will." They are now living happily together ever after.—Lowell Courier Citizen.

MAYOR GAYNOR OF NEW YORK DIES IN MID-OCEAN

Was Making Ocean Trip For His Health--Died Off Queenstown.

New York, Sept. 11.—Word was received here today by a wireless message that Mayor William J. Gaynor of New York, who sailed from this port on the White Star liner Baltic, on Thursday, Sept. 4, had died while on board the ship, which was due at Queenstown today.

The end came on the steamship Baltic in mid-ocean at 1 p. m. Wednesday, according to a cablegram received here today from Rufus W. Gaynor, his son.

News of his death was received here in a message sent by wireless and cable to Robert Adamson, his secretary, by Rufus W. Gaynor, his son, who sailed with him.

The message read as follows: "Father died Wednesday at 1 o'clock due to heart failure. Notify mother."

GAYNOR SAILED ON SEPT. 4.

Though Then Failing Fast, He Denied Rumors of Illness—Death Clears Political Situation.

New York, Sept. 11.—Mayor Gaynor sailed from New York, a fast falling man, on the morning of Sept. 4. An hour before he sailed only one man, his secretary, outside of members of his immediate family, knew of his plans.

The Mayor's announced purpose was a brief vacation on the ocean. He felt that the tonic effect of the salt air would restore him in some measure to health. It was his purpose to sail for home on the return voyage of the Baltic, due to reach New York, Sept. 25.

It was said that some members of the immediate family knew of his intentions only a few hours before he went over the steamship pier. His name did not appear on the sailing list, and the trip was a complete surprise to his friends. His sole companion was his son Rufus.

It was said that this secrecy was inspired by a fear on the part of the steamship officials and the close friends of the Mayor that an attempt might be made to repeat the occurrence which marred the start of his previous European trip on Aug. 9, 1910. That was the occasion of the attempt on the Mayor's life by a disgruntled discharged dock employee, the name of James J. Gallagher, who was insane and has since died in an asylum.

When the Mayor boarded the Baltic last Thursday morning he looked much fagged, and sinking into a deck chair he begged to be excused from talking. It was said that his throat, which had been troubling him for some time had been made considerably worse by the strain imposed upon it on the previous day, when the Mayor was notified of his nomination by independent.

Rufus W. Gaynor Sent Message.
The Baltic is due at Queenstown today. The Mayor died as she was nearing the other side. The news of his death was sent by wireless to Cuxhaven by Rufus W. Gaynor and relayed from Cuxhaven to New York by cable.

Mayor Gaynor left New York at a time when the city was seething in one of the strangest municipal political campaigns in its history. The day before his departure he was notified, on the City Hall steps, by representatives of independent political organizations that they had chosen him as their standard bearer in the Mayorally campaign. A throng that crowded City Hall Park assembled to hear him accept. He had prepared a speech of acceptance, but was so weak that he was unable to deliver it, and his secretary, read it for him, the Mayor standing beside him.

MILITIA BREAK CAMP AFTER FINE WEEK

The New Hampshire Coast Artillery Corps, who have been in camp with the regulars at Fort Constitution, Newcastle, completed their tour of duty on Thursday and broke camp.

The brigade had some work in the forenoon, and after the dinner had been cleared away the order to break camp was given, and in a short time the brigade was in marching order, and left the reservation. They marched up to this city where the brigade was disbanded by Major C. B. Hoyt, and the companies from Dover, Laconia and Exeter returned to their homes by rail and the local company after storing their equipment at the armory, went to their homes.

TRAIN ROBBERS MAKE BIG HAUL

Savannah, Ga., Sept. 11.—Fifty thousand dollars in transit from the Chase National Bank of New York to the Savannah Bank and Trust Company was stolen from a portable safe on an Atlantic Coast Line train between Jersey City and Savannah.

The money should have arrived yesterday morning. Its loss became known today.

Another package containing $21,000 bound from New York to banks in Valparaiso and Brunswick, also was robbed on the same train. The seals on the $50,000 package seemed undisturbed when the robbery was discovered here.

CHARGE COAL CONSPIRACY

West Virginia Operators Try to Show Senate Committee That Outside Mine Owners Caused Strike in South to Get Business for Themselves.

Washington, Sept. 11.—Attorneys for West Virginia coal operators yesterday undertook to demonstrate to the Senate investigating committee that demands of the miners leading to the recent strike in the Cabin Creek and Paint Creek districts were a part of a scheme by which outside operators sought to take the Great Lakes coal lands away from West Virginia. Nell Robinson, secretary of the West Virginia Mining Association, testified as to increases in rates of coal from West Virginia to the Lakes, the claim being that the railroad had been drawn into the effort to divert the Lake trade. He told of unsuccessful contention in the courts to annul the advanced rates.

"WHAT HAPPENED TO MARY"

MISS BETTY ROBERTS WITH THE "WHAT HAPPENED TO MARY" CO. PORTSMOUTH THEATRE THURS DAY, SEPT. 18TH.

"What Happened to Mary," a new play by Owen Davis that has met with considerable success in New York will be seen at the Portsmouth Theatre on Sept. 18.

It is a dramatization of a series of adventures that have been appearing for several months in The United World and as an entertainment of the first class it has been highly endorsed. The first and last acts are placed on a little island off the eastern shore of Chesapeake Bay. Mary lives there with an old skiffman who calls himself her uncle, but never gives her any information about her real parents. Her only friend on the island is a retired sea captain who helps her acquire an education. She runs away in search of a livelihood and in the hope of finding her parents. The second act shows her adventures in a

New York boarding house and the richest designs of a young profiteer who had met her on the island during a yachting trip. To her surprise her real friend turns out to be a rude and surly lawyer who gives her employment. The third act takes place in his office. During his absence for a brief time Mary is accused of theft, the real thief being the young good-for-nothing son of the lawyer's partner. After her return to the island it turns out that she is the daughter of a rich woman whose money she had been accused of stealing and that her uncle had kidnapped and hidden her on the island so that his reckless son should inherit her money. "What Happened to Mary" can thus be seen to be a considerable and presented by a worthy production as to cast and scenery makes it an absorbing and interesting play.

NO ARMED JAPANESE ON PACIFIC COAST

Washington, Sept. 11.—The California adjutant general's office, which for several months has been investigating the reported existence of numerous armed Japanese military organizations in California, has announced that it has found no evidence that state or federal laws had been violated. Accurate war maps of the California coast were found, but the officer did not give out information as to their ownership. In the last two years a number of Japanese associations incorporated as "non-profit" corporations have been organized in the state. They were formed, the article of incorporation stated, to advance the interests of Japanese. The adjutant general's office found that on several occasions these organizations had entertained visitors from Japan who had no Government or private credentials. A recent report from Los Angeles that several organized Japanese military companies were in existence in that vicinity with arms available for immediate use, is to be investigated by the adjutant general. There are about forty of the so-called Japanese associations in California at the present time.

TARIFF TO BE TEN DAYS IN CONFERENCE

President Confers With the Party Leaders—He Leaves for Cornish, N. H., This Afternoon.

Washington, Sept. 11.—Representative Underwood and Senator Simmons had a long conference with President Wilson today over points in the tariff bill to be discussed by the conference committee of both houses. The two Democratic leaders expect the tariff bill will be in conference about ten days. "The President merely expressed his views to us on some of the points in the bill," said Mr. Underwood.

The tariff bill was sent by the House today to conference, where it will be finally shaped, but not without a struggle in which the Democrats would it necessary to make a special rule over the earnest objection of Republicans and Progressives in order to disagree to Senate amendments. The first meeting of the conference took place late today. It was announced that the Democratic members of the conference committee would meet alone, eluding the Republicans, until they had agreed upon all points in dispute between the Senate and House. The Republican minority then will be called in. The President arranged to leave at 6.55 p. m. today for Cornish, N. H., the summer capital, and though it has not yet been determined how long he will remain there, Senator Simmons and Representative Underwood said there was no necessity for further conferences and that it was likely that on his return here the bill would be ready for his signature.

GOVERNOR SULZER REGULARLY IMPEACHED

Supreme Court Decides That He is Devoid of Right to Perform Executive Functions.

Kingston, N. Y., Sept. 11.—Supreme Court Justice Hasbrouck today decided that Gov. Sulzer was regularly impeached and while awaiting impeachment trial was divested of the right to exercise his executive functions including the power to pardon.

The question of the legality of Sulzer's impeachment came before Justice Hasbrouck in connection with habeas corpus proceedings brought to compel the New York city authorities to honor Governor Sulzer's pardon of Joseph G. Robin, the banker convicted. He decided that Robin's pardon was invalid, quashed the writ and sent Robin back to prison at Blackwell's Island.

Attorneys representing Sulzer and Robin had argued that the impeachment was illegal, because voted by the Assembly at a special session which was not called expressly to decide that question. The Court refused to sustain this contention. The decision upheld the argument of the New York corporation counsel, who maintained that the Assembly when it impeached acted in a judicial and not legislative capacity and was promptly in session. Justice Hasbrouck's decision was the final ruling made by any court on the legality of the impeachment, which was voted Aug. 13. Arguments on the validity of the writ of habeas corpus were heard here Monday. "The power conferred upon the Assembly to impeach the governor," says Justice Hasbrouck, "is a judicial power. The power of impeachment, therefore, cannot be participated in by the governor or Senate, and therefore does not constitute a legislative subject. Having no power in the premises, an acting governor could not call the Assembly into session for the purpose of impeaching an absent governor. Neither is the Assembly shown of the power by the summons of the Legislature in extraordinary session. The whole design of constitutional government would fall of protection of popular rights and relief from oppression had wrong against these in exalted place if there were no independence or power in the Assembly to make impeachments. The Assembly is the Assembly, whether in regular or extraordinary session, or whether self-convened. It is the sole impeaching, functioning, and in its exercise of power it is beyond the better hindrance of the executive or the courts. It is reserved for the state for its preservation and the destruction of its enemies and is beyond the control of every court, except the court empowered to try the impeached and find his guilt or innocence."

WANTS "TYLER DAY" TO BE A "NEW HAMPSHIRE DAY"

Manchester, N. H., Sept. 11.—The announcement of a "Tyler Day" at the National League grounds in Boston has met with a hearty response in this vicinity. Sergt. John T. O'Dowd of the local Police Department himself a hard player of more than local fame in the old days says: "Better make 'Tyler Day' in Boston a New Hampshire day on Sept. 30. Tyler is the most prominent base ball player from New Hampshire, and why not make the affair a state wide event?" "Derry and Manchester will be there in full force in any event, but the whole state should be represented and it will be if the right sort of work is done between now and Sept. 30."

Some One Bought a Gold Brick for New Haven.

Here is a bit of financial gossip that will surely interest many a reader:

New Haven's investment in 219,189 Boston & Maine common shares owned through the Holding Company stands at $133 per share, and the 6543 shares of preferred at $162. This investment of $30,302,730 is worth at present prices only $14,836,000 and income thereon has ceased entirely.

The net result is that the New Haven will not only receive no income on its Boston & Maine investment, but will have to pay the taxes and expenses of the Holding Company, and the four per cent. dividends on the $2,800,000 preferred stock in the hands of the public totaling about $220,000.

When a wage-earner, allured by the prospect of gain, "invests" a few dollars in this or that advertised scheme, and finally wakes up to the discovery that his money has taken unto itself wings and flown away, there is frequently the smug observation that "he shouldn't have dabbled without knowing what he was about, or only after taking advice from a competent person." So far as finances are concerned, it is to be presumed that the New Haven interests who bought into Boston & Maine, in taking that property out of the market, know a thing or two. Up to date, however, they have made a sorry mess of things. Their paper losses mount up into the millions, as shown above, while good dollars must yet be sent in bulging volume after the "bad" ones, as represented by the present status of the B. & M. purchase.—Salem News.

There are those who believe that this stock movement is being handled for gain by some one.

What Public Health Means.

The tubercle bacillus, the typhoid germ and the other little pests which lie in wait to bedevil the human race, pay no attention to what religion we profess, what party label we wear, what rent we pay or whether we spin in a buzz car or walk. We all look alike to them.

In the fight for life which we are making against these prevalent foes, oughtn't there to be unity? How foolish to miss easy chances of combining our battle strength.

Spurred to it by the international congress on school hygiene, the common council of Buffalo has proposed that the school houses be made the rallying points of adult society in this war for health. It wants them opened for the free discussion of all public questions. For you can't have free discussion democratically without contributing to health—health of mind, health of soul if not immediately health of body.

We are coming to see that every matter of our common welfare may be translated into terms of physical or psychological health; that overwork is a health problem; that the biggest asset there is in human life, rich and useful and happy human life; and that, therefore, nothing which interferes with the development of such life is foreign to the subject of health.

So while opening the schools to grown folks at night for the study of what we now call hygiene is good, it really means much more. It means the establishment of a new means of human salvation, the preservation of democracy.—Manchester Leader.

Wooden Passenger Coach Is Doomed.

The abolition of every wooden passenger coach in the United States within five years will be demanded in a bill now being drafted by Representative A. G. Allen of Ohio, who framed the steel rail car provision in the postoffice bill at the last session, and by Representative Stevens of New Hampshire, chairman of the safety appliance committee of the interstate committee. The Allen-Stevens bill, which will be offered for passage at the present session, if possible, will compel every railroad in the country to retire 20 per cent. of its wooden passenger coaches a year, beginning on January 1, 1914. It will provide a corps of investigators working under the supervision of the interstate commerce commission to see that the provisions of the measures are carried out. The bill will not apply to Pullman cars alone, but to every car that carries passengers, from a combination baggage and smoking car to the finest type of the Pullman sleeper.—Laconia Democrat.

May Apply to Laconia, But Not Here.

Portsmouth has adopted the new curfew law, and boys and girls under sixteen will have to hike for home when the bell rings at nine o'clock. Portsmouth might improve the law still further by an amendment making the age limit sixty instead of sixteen.—Laconia Democrat.

This suggestion might apply to a sleepy place like Laconia, where the residents are supposed to go to bed when it gets dark under the table, but not to this city.

The Dover man who hadn't seen Augusta since the war has escaped a great many temptations.—Portland Press.

He no doubt is alive to tell his story—because he kept out of Maine.

FOSS HITS LABOR OFFICERS

Denounces Control of New England Railroad Lines by New York Capitalists.

Worcester, Mass., Sept. 11.—Domination of New England railroads by trunk lines and New York banking interests, and control of railroad employees by labor union officials were denounced by Governor Foss in an address before the Worcester Chamber of Commerce tonight.

"The bankers and trunk lines that control the New England transportation system, said the governor are today interlocked and in that interlocking there is no voice of New England. The so-called Pujo investigating committee at Washington has shown clearly that three financial interests in New York city are the central money power of this country. These banks dominate the transportation system of New England. I do not know of any section of the United States where their domination is so unopposedly entrenched.

Do you think railroad money which are the people's money should be allowed to be disposed with private bankers. If you do you must then support the system and pay the rate the private banks ask for loaning this money back to the railroads. These money ought to be secured for these railroads by open subscription as far as possible. And again it is a mistake for a corporation to allow its debt to reach such large proportions before it is funded. For the present plan is disastrous in hard times and forces the roads to pay almost usurious rates."

Domination Must End

Governor Foss declared that the time had come when the domination of private banking interests must cease.

"Thinking on the subject of organized labor the governor said:

"The engineer of the locomotive is the captain of the iron ship plowing through rain and fog and darkness, often at half miles an hour or more, it should owe his allegiance to the railroad corporation and the corporation should protect him and safeguard him in every way. But today does the railroad engineer in New England recognize any allegiance superior to that of his labor union? Railroad men will tell you he does not.

"And the reason is perfectly clear. It is his union that has multiplied his wages to five fold beyond what an engineer of the European train doing the same work receives as compensation.

"Railroads have been run by banking interests and they and their agents the officers of the road, have not been sitting in judgment or justice upon the relative merits of various classes of railroad labor.

Questions Wage System

"Has the wage fund of the railroad been equitably distributed among its employees? Have the wages of the organized workmen, or the unorganized of government been raised by the way in the coal of living. Why not?

"The engineer of the New England substantially all of whom are enrolled in one labor union, are able, at any moment to threaten a strike and paralyze the industries of New England in a day. If their demands are not complied with. What can the railroad officials do? Yield to every demand of the engineers, and deny most of the demands of unorganized labor at the foot of the ladder? I am only asking you questions, I am not making assertions except as they are supported by official testimony.

"You see the concentration of capital and its domination upon one side. And you see the concentration of the highest paid labor on your railroads and its domination. You see that neither the capital nor the labor is working for you or your protection. I stand here as an independent citizen seeing the cloak and color of no party and I denounce the foreign control of the New England railroads, and denounce the foreign control of the labor that exploits the iron horses at the head of every passenger train in New England.

"It is my duty to point out to you the facts. It is your duty to think of the dangers, and it may later be your duty to act."

But Jerome was exonerated by the Canadian judge, who even apologized for the inexperience that Thaw's Nemesis had been put to. Jerome, who represented New York state as special attorney general for the purpose of bringing Harry K. Thaw back to Matteawan (N. JEFFERSON'S CHRISTIANITY.

A Letter He Wrote to a New Hampshire Congressman in 1818.

At the May meeting of the Massachusetts historical society Winston Warren submitted to the society some letters and memoranda handed him by Richard W. Hale of Boston, written in 1818, by his grandfather, Salmon Hale of Keene, N. H., a member of Congress from New Hampshire and author of a "History of the United States." In these papers Mr. Hale gives an account of a visit at Monticello to Thomas Jefferson and of most interesting conversation with him concerning the American Revolution and other subjects. In the course of the account he says: "After dinner the Christian religion became a topic of conversation. In the course of it I remarked that I had lately seen quoted, in a pamphlet, a letter from him expressing a doubt whether Jesus Christ was the Son of God, and classing him with the great men of antiquity, Zoroaster, Socrates, Confucius, etc. He remembered no such letter; but after reflecting awhile, he observed that something like that might have been said in his correspondence with Dr. Bush. This pamphlet, I observed, was the first of a series, seven or eight in all, on the subject of Unitarianism, and was published alternately by opponents and professors of that doctrine. The information interested him, and he was gratified when told that, on my return home, copies of all of them should be sent to him." Upon his return Mr. Hale accordingly sent to Jefferson the pamphlets referred to, which were by Morse, Lowell, Chauncy, and others, and he received in acknowledgment the following letter from Jefferson, dated Monticello, June 26, 1818, which is of distinct interest and significance for the light which it throws upon Jefferson's religious thought:

"Sir—I thank you for the pamphlets you have been so kind as to send me, which I now return. They give a lively view of the state of religious dissension now prevailing in the North, and making its way to the South. Most discussions begin with a discussion of principles, but soon degenerate into epistolary, verbal or personal evils. Too much of this is seen in these pamphlets, and, as usual, those whose dogmas are the most unintelligible are the most angry. The truth is that Calvinism has introduced into the Christian religion more new absurdities than its leader had purged it of old ones. Our Savior did not come into the world to save metaphysicians only, his doctrines are leveled to the simplest understanding; and it is only by banishing hierophanitic mysteries and scholastic subtleties, which they have alienated Christianity, and getting back to the plain and unadorned precepts of Christ, that we become real Christians. The half reformation of Luther and Calvin did something toward a restoration of his genuine doctrine; the present contest will, I hope, complete what they began and place us where the evangelists left us. I salute you with esteem and respect.—Th. Jefferson."—Christian Register.

CURRENT OPINION

THE DUNCE
IN SCHOOL

Every person in the world differs from every other person in body, mind and character, but because there are certain dominant traits common to large groups of people it is usual to separate persons into classes.

The child who happens to belong to the class of human beings who find it difficult to get along rapidly in school, memorize slowly and don't see through things easily is often considered a dunce by his parents and teachers. In reality he may be just as bright as other children, only the average school is organized along lines that offer little chance for his particular kind of ability.

The dunce in school work of the bookish kind may be superior in every form of executive activity. The brilliant fellow in book work may be utterly deficient in practical executive activities.

This last type is much favored in schools. The other type usually has a hard time, though it is better now than ten or fifteen years ago, when this kind of ability was not recognized at all. The introduction of manual arts into the schools and the teaching of subjects in a dynamic way helps him out.

We ought to do more for this type of boy than we do. We ought to conserve his native ability and develop him to the highest extent. We ought to let him go through school, even if he cannot do well in grammar or cube root. Sometimes the other type is urged too far along his special line without getting a balance in practical activities.—Professor M. V. O'Shea, University of Wisconsin.

AUTOMOBILE FUNERAL

Services at Newburyport for Edwin M. Ingalls, Who Lost Life in Fire Last Tuesday.

Newburyport, Sept. 11.—The funeral of Edwin M. Ingalls, who lost his life in the fire of Tuesday last when the Green-street garage was destroyed as well as a number of other buildings, was held this afternoon at his home, 9 Garden street, with public services at the Central Congregational church.

It was an automobile funeral, the hearse which conveyed the body from the home to the church and then to the cemetery being of that style vehicle and the mourners following in motor cars.

The services at the church were conducted by Rev. Walter H. Nugent, pastor of the church, and there was singing by Mrs. Hall J. Leigh and Mrs. Leroy Berry. The interment was in Oak Hill cemetery, the pall bearers being George S. Lang, William H. Welch, Samuel P. Bumpus and L. K. Roberia.

ISSUES REQUEST FOR EXTRADITION

Concord, September 11—Governor Samuel D. Felker has issued a request for the extradition of Joseph Govin from Pennsylvania, where he was sentenced today for three years' imprisonment for having burglar tools in his possession. Govin was one of the most sensational criminals the police authorities of this state have had to deal with. On the night of Feb. 10, 1906, with a companion known only as John Doe, he broke into the office of the Luddy-Currier shoe factory at Dover and blew open the safe. Frightened away before they could secure much loot the two men eluded their pursuers and boarded a Boston-bound train.

Approaching Rockingham Junction, they drew their revolvers and held the passengers and train crew at bay, threatening to shoot anyone who tried to leave the train.

A foreigner who could not understand English, moved towards them, and was shot by Govin's companion. The two outlaws then jumped from the windows, where they were captured after a long chase and a hard struggle. John Doe died in jail after being convicted of the killing of the foreigner, and Govin was convicted as an accessory. He was sentenced to state prison but was later transferred to the insane asylum from which he made a daring escape several months ago.

This was Govin's second escape from the institution. He eluded the guards in June, 1909, and succeeded in getting away from Concord, but was recaptured at Canobie Lake 3 days later.

MAINE NOT TO FIGHT

For the Collectorship of Office in This City.

It is understood that the existing controversy between New Hampshire and Maine has been adjusted by an exchange of patronage, whereby General Frank S. Strecker of Concord who it is said, contemplates resigning as a member of the international point commission will be succeeded by former senator Obadiah Guadalupe of Maine.

In that case Maine would relinquish its claim on the office of the international revenue collector in this city, and the appointment of Doctor Jones to succeed Dr. Crossman would quickly follow.

Although Senator Hollis declined to discuss the alleged Strecker-Guadalupe agreement, there are many evidences here that warrant the prediction that the collectorship controversy has been adjusted along these lines.

Isolation in vogue here deprive me of my opportunity for service to the country on that committee and because my continuance on that committee must be construed into an acquiescence in fraud upon those who have a right to believe, and do believe that I have had or shall have some part in framing the legislation reported by the committee.

"The rules of the house written and unwritten, deprive me of my opportunity of service, and the system of legislation visible and invisible, which obtains here strips me of my prerogatives as a representative of the people. If the present system continues the inevitable result will be that men of industry and ability will no longer seek membership in the house."

Throughout the day the general discussion of the currency bill continued, democrats leading the measure, republicans leading parts of it and continuing most strongly the provisions forcing national banks into the proposed new systems and making the how reserve notes, government obligations.

Rogers Assails Committee

Representative Rogers of Massachusetts, Republican, declared tonight that the Democrats of the banking and currency committee were but "amiable amateurs" on currency "and yet they are to tear up by the roots the entire banking system of the United States, the country whose industries are the most colossal and manifold and whose financial system is the most complex of any nation on the globe."

Representative Seldomridge of Colorado, democrat, vigorously defended the Glass bill.

Representative Hullings of Pennsylvania, Progressive, discussed the activities of President Wilson in connection with the consideration of the currency bill.

"Since Andrew Jackson," he said, "there has been no more determined, astute politician occupying the presidential chair than the present occupant of the White House. Under his influence you democrats have swallowed every particle of your independent judgment, if you have ever had any."

WILSON TO SEE TARGET PRACTICE.

President Wilson will witness the target practice of the Atlantic fleet on the southern drill grounds at a guest of Secretary Daniels on Oct. 18. This will be the President's first experience of the kind, as he was obliged to forego a course planned last spring. Arrangements have been made so that the presidential yacht Mayflower with the party aboard will leave Washington, Oct. 17, arriving on the drill grounds the next day. The principal event of the day's program will be participated in by the first division of the fleet, consisting of the Utah, Arkansas, North Dakota, and Delaware. The ships will be formed in battle column and will attack a target representing a moving fleet, about six miles away. The Florida, Virginia, Vermont and Connecticut will engage separately in elementary practice with their larger guns, in which the various gun pointers and gun captains of the ships will be tested as to their marksmanship.

In the evening a similar practice with the torpedo defence batteries of these ships will be held. The President will have an opportunity to observe the first and the last stage of target practice, both by day and by night. "President Wilson's presence," said Secretary Daniels, "will be a powerful incentive to both officers and men. They are delighted that he should show much interest in their work, and are redoubling their exertions towards efficiency in order that their commander-in-chief shall not be disappointed."

FLORIDA'S ORANGE CROP.

The Florida orange crop this year will be as large as any ever gathered from the groves of this state, but the Californian crop will be many million boxes short. The domestic demand will call for every orange grown in the United States this year, and there will be none left for export unless the foreigner is ready with a fancy price. As California and Florida have heretofore furnished Canada with nearly all the oranges she used after supplying practically the entire demand of the United States, it is evident that there will be a shortage of oranges in North America, and the consumer will pay big prices. This ought to result in a large increase in the wealth of the orange growers of this state.

Twenty years ago the people were almost entirely dependent on orange growing. Now the orange is only one of the many resources of the state. It is not even the greatest. With oranges almost the only product, the destruction of the groves nineteen years ago looked for a time like the ruin of the entire peninsular section of the state. But look at it now—the most prosperous section of the entire country! The orange groves might be destroyed again, and Florida still be rich.

But the orange is still one of Florida's chief sources of wealth, and the large crop and good prices will insure Floridians against the depression that threatens to prevail in other parts of the United States.—From the Florida Times-Union.

BRITISH FIRM GETS NAVY JOB

United States Saves Over $100,000 on the Purchase of Turbine Drums.

Washington, September 11—An English builder was awarded the contract for turbine drums for the new American battleship No. 39 today at a little more than one third the price offered by the lowest American bidder. The accepted bid $74,436, was submitted by New York agents of the New York agents of the Cyclops Steel & Iron Works, Sheffield, England.

It is exceptional for the navy department to send a contract abroad, but Acting Secretary Roosevelt held that the action today was justified by the tremendous difference between the English and American prices. The Sheffield bid includes the payment of duty, and by giving the work to the foreign builder the United States saves more than $100,000.

There were two American bidders, the Bethlehem Steel Company, $169,568, and the Midvale Steel Company, $160,272.

The Carnegie Company, the only other domestic concern equipped to build the drums did not seek the contract.

ARMY OFFENDERS EAGER TO RE-ENLIST.

As a result of Secretary Garrison's decision to permit the reenlistment of minor offenders among enlisted men at the expiration of the term they may be serving in army disciplinary barracks applications for such reenlistment are being received by the score at the War Department. The decision is in line with the spirit of the new disciplinary system in the army. When Secretary Garrison announced the policy to the 600 men at the disciplinary barracks at Fort Leavenworth, Kan., the men cheered with great enthusiasm. In the barracks the offenders are grouped according to the gravity of their offenses. An honor system also is maintained, as in addition to the 600 in the barracks at Fort Leavenworth probably 200 more are paroled outside. It is estimated that fully 80 per cent of the Fort Leavenworth men will reenlist and the results are expected among enlisted men in the barracks at San Francisco and Governors Island, N.Y.

MAY CANCEL INSURANCE

Companies Reported to Plan Abandonment of Salisbury Beach Property Because of Risk.

Companies at Salisbury Beach are facing a new source of annoyance and danger of loss. It is understood the insurance companies that have been carrying policies on beach property are contemplating canceling them and not accepting any more business there.

The many and extensive fires that have visited the beach in the past given inquiry today among agencies which cover this district show that while no such action has been taken the matter is being considered.

The utter lack of fire protection and the flimsy character of many of the buildings at the beach have always made the risk hazardous and high premiums have been charged.

COMMENT ON THE WEARE REUNION

At this meeting says Mr. Sanborn in the Springfield Republican held not far from where the first Judge Weare settled about 1662, one or two of his family papers were presented, and some of the letters of his great grandson, written from his army posts in New York, where Nathaniel Weare and Daniel Webster's father served under Washington, the gathering was large and much interested in promulgating a family history, for which there is now much material in the box of papers found some years since in Charleston, to which town they were brought from Denmark, where the last grandson of Colonel Weare (the Revolutionary martyr) died some ten years ago. The old Weare house in Seabrook then called Hampton Falls where Colonel Weare was born in 1713 was burned a few weeks ago, the fine old English elm, brought from England in 1684 by the second Nathaniel Weare, councillor and chief justice, was killed by the hinge. Near by stands the old Gove house built by one of the sons of Nathaniel Gove, the prisoner of the tower in London, in the very year of Colonel Weare's birth (1713) and now in good preservation, the summer abode of his descendants, W. H. Gove of Salem, who will bring out a family history in 1915. A history of the Weare family sought to accompany it. These two families quarreled in the 17th century, but are now reconciled, and a Gove presided at the Weare reunion.

THE WALKING CLUB.

We formed a walking club, we girls; the rules were, once a week we'd rise at half-past four a.m. and walk to Babson's Creek, Or to the Water Valley mill, and none must hedge or balk, And all must be on hand at five to take a six-mile walk.

We met, first time, at 8.15—some of the girls were late.

Two never came, but we, the rest, with energetic gait

Plowed down the dusty turnpike road, but when we'd gone a mile

That catfish Alton Vanderbrunt stopped with her foolish smile—"Just go on girls," she sadly said; "we must be game, you know."

I stepped upon that loose rock there, somehow, and sprained my toe."

And just a little further on, poor Chads, who is fat,

Lagged far behind, and on a rock red and disheveled sat.

"Just keep on girls," she called to us; "don't loiter over me; I'd walk the whole six miles, of course, but fell and hurt my knee."

But just then came a crowd of boys in just the sweetest car,

And we—well, what do you suppose? And what are autos for?

We gathered up the girls we'd lost and had a lovely ride—

The Walking Club? O, yes, of course—our club just simply died.
